For I see...

What do you see?

But he, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God; and he said, "Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God."

Today, our readings and Gospel look at the present and the future.

As Stephen is about to die he looks up and sees Jesus at the right hand of the Father. He is heading toward Jesus, to His loving embrace. Stephen has Jesus with him in his suffering, and because of that forgives his murders. He is also joyful, even in the midst of the stoning, because He knows what the future holds. Stephen is in a moment so totally now, and in his (and our) future.

John is on the island of Patmos.

Jesus is speaking with him once again in terms that can be read as very now, in the present, and for the future. Jesus tells John that He is the Alpha and the Omega – timeless. He also tells John: "Behold, I am coming soon."

We look at these statements and from them understand that Jesus is ever present, always with us and is also the ultimate goal, our promised future. John knows that Jesus is his present and future. To him Jesus is a joy, better than any other thing the world can offer.

Jesus is delivering His farewell address to His disciples just before the road that will lead Him to Calvary. He is reminding them that they are bound to Him by their knowledge and love, by their unity. They have the reality of God living with and in them, ever present, ever now. They also hear that they have a share in the future reality of God – the kingdom and paradise.

Like Stephen, like John, we need to listen to Jesus and rely on this reality – that He is with us in this moment, in the present, and is not just as a goal or someone we will meet in the future. Also, that we have a share in a wonderful future that surpasses any suffering or difficulty.

Our mothers have seen what Stephen and John saw. They brought us into the Holy Church so that we would see these things, so that we might listen to Jesus and understand a moment so totally now, and a vision for our future.

Because of their faith and the instruction they provided for us we were given an opportunity. When asked, "What do you see?" how will we answer? If we took mom's lessons to heart we can say:

"Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God." Saying that we can offer this vision to others. We can let them know about Jesus who is with us now and is our future.

Her children rise up and call her blessed, her husband also praises her.

Pray

Lord Jesus, I thank and praise You for the my mother who led me to You and taught me Your ways.

For moms living and deceased

Dear Father, today I turn to You to give You thanks for my mother. She tenderly, patiently cared for me. I am so grateful for how she raised me, disciplined me, and led me to You. Please bless her and comfort her. Strengthen her when she is down and give her hope when she is discouraged. Most of all, on this Mother's Day, grant my mother the graces she most needs and desires today. I ask You this, in the name of Jesus, our Lord and Savior forever and ever.

Dear Lord, relying on your promises to us, I turn to you in trust that my mother is with You and that she is enjoying Your loving embrace. For all the ways she loved me, others, and You reward her so she may enjoy the communion of saints with all her family and friends. I ask You this with faith in the resurrection. Amen.

Rummage and Bake Sale

Our annual rummage and bake sale will be held next Saturday, May 18th from 9am to 3pm. Sign up sheets are at the bulletin board in the back of the church as well as in the hall. Please bring in items you wish to donate as well as those wonderful baked goods!!! God bless you for donating your items, baked goods, and time to make this event a success.

THANK YOU

To Pete, Bob and Larry who cleaned up around the church and rectory, cut back overgrown shrubs, and trimmed dead branches from the pine trees. To Pete and Bob who put soil in our planters and to Liz and Stephanie for planting bulbs and flowers.

To all parishioners who provided input on the future of the pine trees in front of the church. Based on your input (the blessing of a democratic Church) we will leave the pine trees standing.

To Pete and Larry who replaced burned out spotlights in the sanctuary and over the altar. It is so much brighter now!

To all who will work so hard this week to prepare for our rummage sale.
