The road

...taken or untaken.

On that day the mourning in Jerusalem shall be as great as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the plain of Megiddo.

Zechariah prophesies about Jesus' suffering and death, not as a prophecy for the purpose of sadness and regret, but for the purpose of motivating people to understand what that suffering and death would purchase.

In his time the people could choose to confront the mourning to come by wallowing in that mourning without seeing a way out, or they could choose to see the hope to come, the salvation that was around the corner – only 500 years away.

Thus says the LORD: I will pour out on the house of David and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem a spirit of grace

Jesus gave His all, His life to pour out God's graces on us, in fact on everyone. It is, as the catechism describes:

Grace is God's help. Grace is a gift God gives us through all that Jesus Christ did for our salvation.

God doesn't just want to offer us grace; He freely does offer us His grace – and we are free to choose it.

Zechariah is talking about two options. Since we live after Jesus' coming and His opening of grace, we can accept and take advantage on all Jesus did, of what the Father offers us. We can choose to accept and bathe away our weakness, mourning and sin in the fountain of those graces poured out. Graces open to us:

On that day there shall be open to the house of David and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, a fountain to purify from sin and uncleanness.

We can choose to be cleansed of sin and live His way, or we can simply choose not to accept, relish, and be changed by His gift of grace. We can choose to live as we are in mourning and sadness.

Robert Frost's poem, The Road Not Taken comes to mind. But, it really isn't a choice between two equally decent possibilities. Living a life that accepts God's grace, the life Jesus laid out for us, is the better choice. It is the choice that frees us from sin that makes us clean, that is full and that has endless –eternal – possibility.

The disciples were confronted with a question. "Who do the crowds say that I am?" and "...who do you say that I am?" They had an opportunity to stick with the road the crowds had taken or they could accept the other road, the untaken road of grace that would give them new insight. They chose the untaken road and recognized God. Then they went and shared that grace. It is up to us, the road chosen, and the road we lead others to choose. Choose to see and to share the hope we have in Jesus.

"And with great power the apostles gave their testimony to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great grace was upon them all."

St. John the Forerunner

The glorious Prophet and Forerunner John the Baptist is also referred to as John the Forerunner because he was the forerunner of Christ. He was an ascetic and great prophet, who baptized Christ and became one of the most revered saints in the Church. John is a cousin of Christ through his mother Elizabeth. We honor his memory on June 24th as a solemnity.

Jesus himself testified regarding John that he was a "burning and a shining light" (John 5:35). But John was not "The Light." Rather as the last of the Old Testament prophets, he pointed to the Light of the World and served as a bridge between that period of revelation and Jesus, preparing the world for Jesus' coming.

Craft Fair this Fall

We will be holding a seasonal/holiday craft fair on Saturday, October 12th from 9am till 4:30pm at the Rotterdam Senior Citizens Center, 2639 Hamburg St., Schenectady. At the present time we are seeking vendors for the fair, so if you know any crafters please invite them. Tables are $25/$30 or $10 extra with electric. We will be serving food too. Stephanie Dominy, Gayle Clas, and Kelly Supinski are leading this effort. We will hold meeting every few weeks in preparation. Please feel free to join in. Also, in the fall, our SOCL student will be creating crafts that we will be able to sell at the fair in support of the SOCL program.

Need a career change?

The month of June is career change month - better known as Sacred Vocations month in our Church. Will a career change to the sacred ministry bring lots of wealth? Perhaps not in the sense most people think, but a kind of wealth and security that surpasses any other career. Do I have a vocation? In simple words, yes, we all do. God has a role for each of us in His kingdom. Yes, each person has a role in God's Kingdom. The role is clearest when we listen to God's plan for us. When we do this we can say to the Lord – "Here I am, I heard you calling" Feel called – see Deacon Jim.

Music & More

Applications are now available for the National United Choirs music workshop. Also remember the annual YMSofR Zlot/Track and Field Tournament. See Deacon Jim and sign-up. Please pray for our youth who will be traveling to Kurs this Saturday.

SOUP on Sunday

Our next event will be June 30th. Please be sure to continue to invite friends, family, and everyone you know to partake every month. There is no cost or charge for this meal. This service opens our home to all in need of a little company, a warm meal, and the love of Christ. We need additional help for our next event as Stephanie and Bob will be away on vacation.
